10. In the end, Jason and Kelly agree about young people's health. T

Part 2

Reading (6 points)

Read about the people in texts 11–16. They all would like to learn something new. Match schools/courses A–G with the people whose interests they can satisfy. There is one letter you do not need to use.

11. Edwina works for a multinational company with branches in most European countries. She really needs to learn French and German, but she has very little spare time and thinks it could be difficult to find time.
12. Damian got his job as soon as he left school. He never had the chance to go to university. He isn't very happy with his job, but he knows he can't get a better one without a degree. He might try a part-time degree course if it's not too demanding.
13. Alice has a lot of time on her hands. She is a very creative person with a lot of imagination, which she really doesn't use very much right now. She already has a lot of hobbies, but she'd rather learn something new that would let her use her imagination.
14. Paul doesn't work; he looks after the children while his wife goes to work. He would like to do something for himself, learn something new or take up a new hobby, but he needs to stay at home.
15. Rhona is a school teacher. She teaches mathematics, but has always been interested in art and culture. She takes a great interest in the philosophy and civilization of the East. She may go to Vietnam next year.
16. Philip finds his life boring. He works nine to five, but has no other interests and would like to find something to do in the evening, maybe enroll on a course to learn something new, but nothing too demanding.

Use of English (27 points)

Task 1

Read the text below and choose the correct word for each space. For each question 17–26, mark the letter next to the correct word – A, B, C or D. The first one is done for you.

Example answer: 0 A B C D

Picasso

If you ask many people to (0) name a twentieth-century artist, they will suggest 'Picasso'. Although he (17) was born in 1881 and died in 1973, the general public (18) already thinks of his work as modern art. His early paintings look traditional (19) for us nowadays, but his later work is less easy to understand, (20) over seventy years after he did it. One thing students should (21) know about Picasso is that he enjoyed a joke. This is clear (22) when we look at the drawings he made on dishes and pots. When we try to (23) discover the importance of Picasso, we must not forget that he was a clever businessman as well as a great artist. Although poor when young, he was excellent (24) at selling his work and he became extremely rich. He believed he was a great artist, and he could (25) insist other people that he was too. Some people feel that there are other twentieth-century artists who should be (26) fairly famous, but this can only be decided in the future.

24.	in	on	out	at
25.	persuade	insist	decide	agree
26.	actually	presently	fairly	equally

Task 2

Put each verb in brackets 27–43 in the correct tense and voice forms. The first one is done for you.

An old school friend

When John (0) saw (see) the large crowd which (27) gathered (gather) in the street, he wasn't sure at first what (28) happened (happen). There were so many people blocking the entrance to the hotel, that he (29) had to push (have to push) his way through them to get to the door. At the door he (30) found (find) two policemen who (31) tried (try) to hold the crowd back. 'What on earth (32) went (go) on?' he asked them. Then John noticed that some of the crowd (33) held (hold) placards which read, 'We (34) love (love) you, Sally.' Of course, that was it. Sally Good was a footballer, the first woman to play for England.

Although John wasn't really interested in sport he (35) decided (decide) he (36) joined (join) the crowd and wait until she (37) appeared (appear). About ten minutes later, a smiling woman appeared and waved to the crowd. John (38) took (take) completely by surprise when she (39) took (take) his arm and (40) said (say), '(41) remember (you remember) me? I (42) am (be) the girl who (43) used (use) to sit next to you at school.'

I am going to comment on the problem of caring for elderly people who live alone.

Personally, I would say it is very important to develop such systems as elder people really need it. Because they are not able to do some tasks already, we should do everything to make them to enjoy life further.

I am very happy to learn that such systems are there, especially in such countries like Japan, where life is very stressful in general. I really hope when such technology is developed enough, it will be introduced to people from poorer countries.

In conclusion, I would say that technology, at the end of the day, is doing much more help than harm for ^{the} people.

Read an extract from a novel and answer questions.

Australian Road Trip

Dad had been driving our family through the beautiful countryside of Australia for some days, mainly along the coast. Then he suddenly decided we should explore what the scenery was like inland too, so we turned away from the sea and drove for miles through the countryside. Dad was very optimistic about what an adventure it would be, but it wasn't long before the rest of us suspected it was going to be pretty dull, not to mention uncomfortable as the roads were now full of hazardous holes.

The scenery was mostly dry plains, spotted with eucalyptus trees and a few flowering plants somehow managing to survive the climate. It seemed just about the loneliest place I'd ever visited. We drove through several towns – tiny groups of houses with a handful of stores – separated by miles and miles of empty road in between, sometimes punctuated by the odd house on the roadside here and there.

I was curious about the signs that pointed away up endless long driveways to single houses, and started to wonder about the lives of people living there. But immediately the thought of living in such a quiet, remote place made my heart sink, and I thought longingly of my own house thousands of miles away.

If we were hoping to see some wildlife, we weren't disappointed. Large adult kangaroos were a common sight as the sun started to go down, feeding off the rather thin grass on the roadside – probably because on the other side of the fences the cattle had eaten absolutely all the nicer stuff, so nothing else remained for the poor kangaroos. Luckily they stayed away from vehicles, so at least we weren't in danger of crashing into them.

Further along the way, we met some cattle drovers who'd been driving their cattle thousands of miles over a period of months, towards areas where they knew there'd been small amounts of rain. There were just five of them to look after more than a thousand animals, and we learnt that they just drove their cattle towards wherever it rained. They never knew what would happen from one day to the next, which seemed a strange, unattractive sort of life to me.

Then we finally approached a big town, where there was a huge zoo. By this time, we really wanted to get out of our car and do something, so we parked up and went in. The zoo had mainly Australian animals, some of which we'd already come across along the way, so we were quite keen to find out more about them. We saw a crocodile show, where they get crocodiles to jump out of the water by hanging some meat in the air. Far from being the quiet animals they look when they are fast asleep on a riverbank, they were transformed into fierce, snapping creatures that reminded me of ancient, terrifying dinosaurs.

While we were there, two new crocodiles arrived. The two adults had been found injured in the wild, and transported to the zoo in a plane, inside special long wooden boxes designed to keep crocodiles cool and quiet during a journey. Once they were at the zoo, they were released into their pond, and they ran straight into the water to cool off, sinking down until just their eyes were visible.

Then we went off to see some kangaroos. This time, rather than just seeing them from afar, you could touch them if you wanted and feel their soft fur. One actually had a baby in its special pouch, like a little pocket, with just the baby's tail sticking out! The keeper happened to mention that adult kangaroos can kick at their enemies really fiercely, so I decided against getting too near the mother, even though she was with the keeper, and just settled for a photo instead.

Comment on the following problem:

«Elderly people who live alone should be taken care of».

In your comment use the information from the article below.

Elderly people who live alone can be monitored by new technology that analyses household sounds to ensure their safety.

The new sound monitoring system, developed by Fujitsu, the Japanese electronics company, examines noises in homes via a microphone connected to a data centre. The technology is refined enough to differentiate between the sound of a falling object or a collapsing human and can instantly alert family members or security firms if any abnormality is detected.

From breathing and coughing to sleeping, all noises made by the resident can be detected by the technology, in addition to analysis of daily routines, heat and humidity levels.

Write 100 – 140 words.

I am going to give a ~~text~~ comment on the matter of elderly people care.

Nowadays, when people have their careers and jobs, it becomes very difficult to take care of your elder ones.

In my opinion this problem is very important now. I believe it's our duty to figure it out. Elderly people were young and all of them did contributions to our world either directly or indirectly. That being said, we must be grateful for what they did back then.

Well, here's some brilliant solution I've read about. The Japanese invented a monitoring system to keep track of your elder ones. It analyses the sounds around and of the human. It will alert the family if some abnormality happens. For example, ~~is~~ a fallen object or a collapsing human.

Summing up, I am sure that ^{one day} this problem actually would be solved with the help of technology.

Thanks ~~for~~ for attention.

Australian Road Trip

Dad had been driving our family through the beautiful countryside of Australia for some days, mainly along the coast. Then he suddenly decided we should explore what the scenery was like inland too, so we turned away from the sea and drove for miles through the countryside. Dad was very optimistic about what an adventure it would be, but it wasn't long before the rest of us suspected it was going to be pretty dull, not to mention uncomfortable as the roads were now full of hazardous holes.

The scenery was mostly dry plains, spotted with eucalyptus trees and a few flowering plants somehow managing to survive the climate. It seemed just about the loneliest place I'd ever visited. We drove through several towns – tiny groups of houses with a handful of stores – separated by miles and miles of empty road in between, sometimes punctuated by the odd house on the roadside here and there.

I was curious about the signs that pointed away up endless long driveways to single houses, and started to wonder about the lives of people living there. But immediately the thought of living in such a quiet, remote place made my heart sink, and I thought longingly of my own house thousands of miles away.

If we were hoping to see some wildlife, we weren't disappointed. Large adult kangaroos were a common sight as the sun started to go down, feeding off the rather thin grass on the roadside – probably because on the other side of the fences the cattle had eaten absolutely all the nicer stuff, so nothing else remained for the poor kangaroos. Luckily they stayed away from vehicles, so at least we weren't in danger of crashing into them.

Further along the way, we met some cattle drovers who'd been driving their cattle thousands of miles over a period of months, towards areas where they knew there'd been small amounts of rain. There were just five of them to look after more than a thousand animals, and we learnt that they just drove their cattle towards wherever it rained. They never knew what would happen from one day to the next, which seemed a strange, unattractive sort of life to me.

Then we finally approached a big town, where there was a huge zoo. By this time, we really wanted to get out of our car and do something, so we parked up and went in. The zoo had mainly Australian animals, some of which we'd already come across along the way, so we were quite keen to find out more about them. We saw a crocodile show, where they get crocodiles to jump out of the water by hanging some meat in the air. Far from being the quiet animals they look when they are fast asleep on a riverbank, they were transformed into fierce, snapping creatures that reminded me of ancient, terrifying dinosaurs.

While we were there, two new crocodiles arrived. The two adults had been found injured in the wild, and transported to the zoo in a plane, inside special long wooden boxes designed to keep crocodiles cool and quiet during a journey. Once they were at the zoo, they were released into their pond, and they ran straight into the water to cool off, sinking down until just their eyes were visible.

Then we went off to see some kangaroos. This time, rather than just seeing them from afar, you could touch them if you wanted and feel their soft fur. One actually had a baby in its special pouch, like a little pocket, with just the baby's tail sticking out! The keeper happened to mention that adult kangaroos can kick at their enemies really fiercely, so I decided against getting too near the mother, even though she was with the keeper, and just settled for a photo instead.

Comment on the following problem:

«Elderly people who live alone should be taken care of».

In your comment use the information from the article below.

Elderly people who live alone can be monitored by new technology that analyses household sounds to ensure their safety.

The new sound monitoring system, developed by Fujitsu, the Japanese electronics company, examines noises in homes via a microphone connected to a data centre. The technology is refined enough to differentiate between the sound of a falling object or a collapsing human and can instantly alert family members or security firms if any abnormality is detected.

From breathing and coughing to sleeping, all noises made by the resident can be detected by the technology, in addition to analysis of daily routines, heat and humidity levels.

Write 100 – 140 words.

Remember to:

- make an introduction
- express your personal opinion on the problem and give reasons for your opinion
- express your attitude towards the information from the article

1 I 2 am 3 going 4 to 5 give 6 a 7 comment 8 on 9 the 10 matter 11 of 12 elderly

16 17 18 19 careers 20 ~~flaming~~ 21 ~~businesses~~ 22 and 23 24
25 Nowadays, when 26 people 27 got 28 their 29 careers 30 ~~flaming~~ 31 ~~businesses~~ 32 33 34 35
36 it 37 seems 38 like 39 there's 40 no 41 time 42 to 43 think 44 about 45 your 46 closer 47 ones, 48 your 49 ~~grandparents~~ 50 ~~grandparents~~ 51 ~~and~~ 52 ~~etc.~~ 53 ~~we~~ 54 ~~can~~
55 tell 56 it's 57 ~~so~~ 58 ~~nearly~~ 59 ~~rather~~ 60 ~~impossible~~ 61 ~~to~~ 62 ~~take~~ 63 ~~care~~
64 of 65 the 66 elderly 67 ~~people~~ 68 in 69 general.
70 In 71 my 72 opinion, 73 this 74 problem 75 is 76 very 77 prominent, 78 now
79 and 80 I 81 believe 82 it's 83 our 84 duty 85 to 86 figure 87 it 88 out.
89 Elderly 90 people 91 were 92 young 93 as 94 me 95 now, 96 every 97 one 98 of 99 them, 100 one 101 by 102 one
103 to 104 our 105 world's 106 wellness 107 either 108 directly 109 or 110 indirectly.
111 ~~For my~~ 112 Obviously, 113 we 114 must 115 be 116 for 117 what 118 they 119 did 120 back 121 in 122 time. 123 We 124 owe 125 it 126 to 127 them.
128 So 129 here's 130 some 131 brilliant 132 idea 133 I've 134 read 135 about 136 in 137 an 138 article. 139 Basically, 140 Japanese 141 electronics 142 company 143 called 144 Fujitsu 145 developed 146 a 147 sound-
148 based 149 monitoring 150 system 151 to 152 track 153 the 154 situations 155 concerning 156 your 157 el-
158 ders. 159 For 160 example, 161 it 162 can 163 tell 164 if 165 some 166 object 167 has 168 been 169 fallen 170 of 171 the 172 elder
173 ly 174 having 175 a 176 collapse. 177 On 178 such 179 cases 180 it 181 will 182 alert 183 the 184 whole 185 family
186 of 187 security 188 firms 189 in 190 a 191 flash. 192 Furthermore, 193 it 194 can 195 even 196 analyse 197 the
198 one's 199 common 200 daily 201 routines, 202 heat 203 and 204 humidity 205 levels 206 of 207 a 208 room
209 and 210 ~~can~~ 211 many 212 more!
213 Summing 214 up, 215 I 216 see 217 no 218 doubt 219 in 220 saying 221 that 222 we 223 have 224 already 225 halved
226 this 227 very 228 prominent 229 problem 230 and 231 I 232 believe 233 there's 234 really 235 left
236 really 237 a 238 little 239 like 240 we 241 are 242 really 243 close 244 to 245 solving 246 it 247 out 248 altogether.
249 Thanks 250 for 251 attention.
